OUTLINES.

The Georgia Pine Distilling Company's $75,000 plant at Fayetteville, N. C., was burned last night. ——At the trial of Judge Loving, at Houston, Va., yesterday, charged with the murder of Theodore Estes for alleged drugging and assaulting of Miss Elizabeth Loving, the defence closed its evidence with an effort to show emotional insanity; the prosecution, in rebuttal, proposed to introduce Miss Annie Kidd to prove that there was no truth in Miss Loving's story that she had been drugged and assaulted, but the defense objected and argued that under the ruling in the Thaw trial that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's life story could not be attacked would hold good in the Loving case; the court will rule on the question today. ——At Asheville yesterday argument began before Judge Pritchard, of the United States Circuit Court, on the petitions of the railroads to enjoin the enforcement of the 2 1-4 cent passenger laws of North Carolina and Virginia; the railroad attorneys contend that the acts are unconstitutional in that they take away the property of the railroads without due process of law; argument will continue today. ——An early morning fire yesterday at Pine Beach, just outside the grounds of the Jamestown Exposition, destroyed 50 hotels, restaurants, stores and places of amusement, involving a loss of $200,000 to $250,000 with only 20 per cent insurance; five persons were burned to death, and it took hard work to keep the flames from the Expositions grounds——The Georgia Legislature convened yesterday. —— In Campbell county, Va., on Tuesday seven men were killed by a premature explosion on the Tidewater Railroad. ——At the trial of the cotton leak case in Washington yesterday Edwin S. Holmes, Jr., denied that he divulged cotton statistics to New York speculators and contradicted all the testimony of Van Riper.——New York markets: Money on call, steady, 2 3-4 to 3 1-4 per cent.; ruling rate and closing bid, 2 1-2; offered at 3; spot cotton, 20 points lower, closing quiet at 12:90; flour, steady with a better inquiry; wheat firm; No. 2 red, 97 1-8 elevator; corn, firm; No. 2, 63 elevator; oats steady; mixed, 49 1-2; turpentine, steady, 60 1-4 to 60 3-4; rosin, steady; strained, common to good, 4.50 to 4.60.

Some men are so crazy to get the nomination for President they are liable at any time to put their foot in it.

Some writer says: "Carry sunshine with you." In North Carolina it will be a great deal safer to do that than to be caught in a prohibition county carrying a jug of moonshine.

There is a dispute in Maine as to how many legs the lobster has. Chorus girls can settle it by assuring all hands that the kind of lobsters they catch have but two.

"The people of North Carolina should down the Democracy," says a Republican contemporary. In that event the people would "down" themselves. The people constitute the Democracy. Great are the people. Thomas Jefferson is their prophet.

The United States Agricultural Department is manifesting anxiety because Japan is importing peanuts to this country in competition with the home product. One the other hand, the State Department is worried by peanut politics in Japan.

Our Republican contemporaries declare that harmony has been restored between Marion Butler and Spencer Adams. The diplomat who brought it about ought to be appointed by President Roosevelt to take Central America in hand and bring about harmony.

A strong friendship grew up around Jefferson Davis, after he was captured, between Col. Hooker of the Confederate army and Lieut. Day, who guarded Davis in Fort Monroe. Hooker was afterward Davis' counsel, and has recently been visiting Col. Day at Montclair, N. J.

A Virginia girl went buggy riding with a young man and she took two drinks of liquor with him. Result: Ruined and unhappy girl; young man murdered; her father on trial for murder; two families distracted. What two drunks of whiskey did for two families was a plenty.

Southern lumber shippers have petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission, in 37 cases, to compel the railroads to refund a portion of freight paid at a rate which the Supreme Court of the United States has decided was excessive and unreasonable. Evidently the railroads are not going to pay this rebate till the Commission says so.

DREDGE HERCULES

New Craft For Cape Fear River Improvement Arrived Yesterday at Wilmington.

BUILT AT COST OF $61,350

Will Be Used in Addition to Other Equipment Now on This Work. Tied Up at Government Wharf for Finishing Touches.

The splendid clam-shell dredge Hercules, recently built at a cost of $61,350 by Theodore Smith Sons & Company at Jersey City for the government work on the upper and lower Cape Fear river, arrived yesterday in tow of the Baltimore tug Robert H. Smith, and as soon as possible she will be put into commission by the United States Engineer's Department in this city. The new dredge, modernly built and equipped, was authorized by a late session of Congress for the greater improvement of the Cape Fear river and is added to the equipment here which in respect to dredges heretofore consisted of the powerful suction dredge Cape Fear, used on the bar and the Ajax, which is used in the channel at and below Wilmington.

The new dredge is 100 feet long, 10 feet deep and swings a seven and a half bucket; that is, at one operation it removes seven and a half cubic feet of earth to the scow or other tender. It will dig in addition to the already large and effective plant on the Cape Fear river below Wilmington about 60,000 cubic yards per month. This will greatly facilitate the work on the river and the arrival of the tug will call for the employment of another captain and a crew of twelve or fifteen men, the names of whom have not yet been announced. It will be used exclusively in conection with the Ajax on the river channel.

Upon the arrival of the new dredge yesterday she was tied up at the government yards down river and will be there for two or three weeks, having the final touches put upon her. She is the best of her class to be found, and could have not been furnished so early by the shipbuilders but for the fact that she was already under construction for a private contractor when the government called for bids for a new machine. The specifications tallied almost exactly and in order to save time the dredge then in process of building was purchased through the engineer's office here. With the recent appropriation secured for the lower Cape Fear through the efforts of Congressman Patterson, it is expected that the work will now go on rapidly.

TELEPHONE IMPROVEMENT.

Southern Bell Adding to Its Switchboard Capacity in Exchange.

A party of expert telephone men have been at work for some time installing two additional sections to the switchboard in the local telephone exchange to accommodate the ever-increasing number of subscribers to the service. The installation of the sections has been somewhat delayed on account of the delay of material, but in a short time it is hoped to have the improvement completed The long distance board has been moved to the second floor of the new Bear building adjoining so that there will be more room for the local exchange.

The service of the Bell Telephone has been somewhat below the standard on account of the transfer of the boards and the installation of the new sections of the switchboard, but in a short time it is promised that the service will be improved. It was learned on the street yesterday that the service had been taken up with District Manager M. B. Spier, of Charlotte, by President J. A. Taylor, of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Taylor was sought yesterday to give an interview in regard to the subject, and stated as a fact that the matter had been taken up with Mr. Spier about two weeks ago and that relief had been promised as soon as the equipment arrived. This is expected at any time, and subscribers after that time are promised that they will not have to exercise so much patience when using the phone.

LAYING HEAVIER RAIL

Two Sections of Trackmen Now at Work on Either End of Carolina Central — Passenger Depots. Crowds for Tournament.

Major C. H. Gattis, traveling passenger agent of the Seaboard Air Line [illegible] the city yesterday and spoke encouragingly of the progress of the improvements to the Carolina Central end of the system. The laying of the heavier rail and improvement of the road bed has progressed a little beyond Phoenix from Wilmington while a second large force of hands is at work from the Hamlet end and have proceeded as far this way as Old Hundred. Passengers on the Seaboard notice the change quite perceptibly in the sections re-laid and before long they hope to see the two track crews meet so that the entire distance will be over the heavier rail and improved roadbed.

The new union station at Lumberton has just been completed and occupied by the Seaboard and Raleigh and Charleston and a substantial freight and passenger depot is now about ready for occupancy at Abbottsburg. It is expected that it will not be a great while before the improvement and enlargement of the Atlantic Coast Line passenger facilities in Wilmington will be complete so that all Wilmington trains can enter there.

While there will be no excursions this year Major Gattis says that the Seaboard is preparing to handle a large travel to Wilmington for the firemen's tournament in August. The Seaboard is very enterprising as to its passenger traffic and the road will bring them in large numbers.

THE CHARLOTTE EXCURSION

The Pritchard Memorial Baptist Sunday School excursion reached the city yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock, about an hour late. The train consisted of six coaches and refreshment car and was in charge of Conductor Carson. Major C. H. Gattis, of Raleigh, traveling passenger agent, and Mr. James Ker, city ticket agent in Charlotte, accompanied the party and saw that the comfort of all passengers was looked after. There was some disappointment that cars did not meet the train to convey the visitors up town or to the seashore as was advertised, but this was rendered impossible on account of the extensive double tracking now in progress on Front street. The visitors came up town about 3:30 P. M. and took the next cars for Wrightsville. They will remain in the city and at the seashore until tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock when they leave over the Seaboard returning home. Today many of the visitors will embrace the opportunity of taking a trip down the Cape Fear river on the steamer Wilmington, which will make four trips at 8 A. M., 11 A. M., 2:30 and 7:30 P. M.

The excursion this year is not as large as usual, probably due to the lateness of the season. The visitors are quiet and well behaved and are readily distinguished from the ordinary excursionists. Some of the best people of Charlotte and intermediate territory are visitors in the party.

COMMITTTE'S FINAL REPORT.

Improvements to St. Paul's Lutheran Church to Proceed at Once.

A meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church was held last night at which the building committee made its final report on the extensive improvements to the church property which have been in contemplation for some time. The report as submitted was adopted and the committee was made permanent and instructed to proceed with the work at once. The improvements, which were recently outlined in these columns, will cost between $11,000 and $12,000 and will give the congregation of St. Paul's one of the handsomest and most elegantly appointed houses of worship in the State. It is hoped to have everything completed by December 1st, as early in the new year the 50th anniversary of the congregation will be celebrated. The church has greatly prospered under the ministry of Rev. W. A. Snyder and the call for a larger house of worship owing to the increasing congregation was imperative.

The building committee is composed of Mr. L. Hanson, chairman; Mr. H. L. Vollers, clerk; Rev. W. A. Snyder; Messrs. C. W. Polvogt, M. G. Tiencken, J. G. L. Gieschen, J. H. Rehder and H. E. Bonitz.

The Adkins Orchestra.

The Adkins orchestra has begun its engagement at the Tarrymoore Hotel, on Wrightsville Beach, and last night discoursed excellent music to a large audience. The orchestra as reorganized is composed of Mr. J. J. Adkins, Jr., Mr. C. W. Hollowbush, Miss Mildred Hunt, Mr. Fred Dock and Mr. B. McD. Russell. It is a very fine organization and will add considerably to the pleasures at Tarrymoore this Summer.

The Great Mill-End Sale starts Monday, July 1st, at Rehder's. The large force of salespeople are now busy marking goods and arranging for the greatest of all mill-end sales. Don't fail to be on hand Monday at 10 o'clock, the opening hour. **

THE RHOE ELECTION

TROUBLES OF CONGREGATION

Disaffection in Ranks of First Baptist Flock Will Go Into Courts After All—Policemen On the Scene as Precaution—Lawyers.

And still there seems to be no likelihood of settling the differences that have threatened for some time to rend in twain the fabric of the congregation of the First Baptist Church, colored, of this city. This, in spite of the intervention of the white Baptist ministers of the city and the efforts at reconciliation of the Rhoe and anti-Rhoe factions through the medium of a mutual council, as regularly prescribed for such cases in the church government. In response to overtures from Rev. Rhoe, the pastor, who seems to be the bone of contention in the congregation, a conference of the church was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the building, resulting in the re-election of Rhoe for an indefinite period. This was accomplished, according to anti-Rhoe authorities, by voting watch-care members, who, it is held by the opposition, were not entitled to vote and they will take steps in the courts to set aside the election.

The conference yesterday afternoon was attended by something like 250 colored persons and a number of whites, the latter including Messrs. Herbert McClammy and B. G. Empie, counsel for the Rhoe faction; Rev. Fred D. Hale, pastor of the First Baptist Church, white, and Rev. J. A. McKaughan, pastor of Brooklyn Baptist Church, white, the two last named representing the anti-Rhoe faction and present by invitation. At the request of the anti-Rhoe faction several policemen were detailed from the City Hall to be in the vicinity of the church in anticipation of possible trouble, the presence of the blue coats giving a paradoxical setting to the church meeting.

On Tuesday of last week, according to the unanimous vote on the adoption of the mutual council's report, Rev. Rhoe's time was up as pastor, but in the meantime he had held another meeting of his church "unbeknownst" to the opposition, and he was reelected pastor. The anti-Rhoe faction would have none of this exparte election of a pastor and last Tuesday were preparing to oust the cleric by injunction proceedings when the mediator, Rev. Dr. Hale, of the First Baptist Church, white, received a letter from Rhoe embracing a proposition to come together and hold a fair and square election of a pastor, "in strict accordance with the laws and government of the Baptist Church." This was accepted and yesterday the meeting was held as stated above. This arrangement had been previously ratified at a business meeting held after prayer meeting one night last week in which all factions united.

There are 251 names on the church roll, 142 of whom are marked full members and 109 watch-cares; that is, members who belong to churches elsewhere and who have not yet been dismissed from the other church to this church. The anti-Rhoe faction holds that such members are entitled to all other privileges except that of voting for obvious reasons.

When the meeting was called yesterday Rhoe appeared in the chair as moderator and the exercises were opened with singing, Scripture reading and prayer. Then Rhoe announced that all members who had not been especially invited must retire. This brought about a division at the outset and the antis began to complain that they were not getting the "square deal." When the church had been cleared for action, Rhoe announced that the election of a pastor would be proceeded with and that all members, whether watch-care or not, would be permitted to vote. Dr. Hale got the floor, representing the disaffected portion of the congregation and asked to read all the papers bearing on the case and the accepted authority on the question of watch-care members voting. Dr. Hale was ruled out of order by Rhoe; his decision was appealed from, but the Rev. Rhoe refused to put the motion, and was about to pass on to the election when some of his more conservative members asked a hearing for Dr. Hale. Dr. Hale then read the papers and extracts from Hiscox on church polity, contending that peace could not reign in the church unless the election was held "in strict accordance with the laws and the government of the Baptist Church."

Rev. Rhoe presented an argument that every Baptist Church was a government unto itself and the congregation could do as it pleased. On this question the watch-cares were allowed to vote on the question of their own rights, in spite of further protests from the opposition. The moderator ruled that the congregation would proceed with the election of a pastor for an indefinite period. As Rhoe was about to put the question a number of members attempted to get the floor, but were not recognized. His decision was appealed from, but he would not put the appeal. Then the motion was put and carried, the opposition refusing to participate in the voting.

The election of a pastor being declared in order by the vote, Rev. Rhoe then called for the election. Again there were clamors for a discussion of the question, but Rhoe ruled all of them out of order. A third time there was an appeal from the chair, but Rev. Rhoe refused to put the appeal to the congregation and the election was declared in order. Some one had nominated Rhoe for pastor in the meantime and he called a "brother" to the chair, who stood pat with the faction in the saddle. Rev. Rhoe was declared elected by a vote of 99 to nothing, the recalcitrants still refusing to vote, because they held that the whole proceeding was not "in strict accordance with the laws and government of the Baptist Church" in that no discussion was allowed of any question and watch-cares were allowed to vote.

Rhoe was declared elected unanimously and the meeting closed in great confusion, Rhoe's friends rushing forward to congratulate him in the meantime singing the long metre doxology.

It was announced last night by the anti-Rhoe faction that the differences, after all, will be carried to the courts, the question to be tested being the legality of Rhoe's election, quite a large number of watch-cares having been allowed to vote under Rhoe's ruling. Hon. John D. Bellamy has been retained to appear for the opposition and Messrs. McClammy and Empie will appear for Rhoe and his followers.

ROCKED SUBURBAN CAR

White Men of Greenville Sound Charged With Throwing Missiles Into Passenger Coach of Consolidated Company.

Charged with hurling missiles into one of the suburban cars of the Consolidated Company just this side of Bradley's Creek trestle, on Greenville Sound, Sunday morning, six young men living in the vicinity were yesterday brought before Justice of the Peace John J. Furlong for trial. On account of the absence of Mr. George Rountree, a passenger on the car who is alleged to have been struck by one of the missiles, the hearing was postponed until next Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The warrant was sworn out by Conductor E. P. Cunningham, in charge of the car into which the missiles are alleged to have been hurled, and Constable W. B. Savage and Deputy Sheriff W. H. Cox went down on Greenville Tuesday night and served the warrants upon the defendants who are Ramsey Cottel, Wilson Roggers, Steve Brock, James Jenkins, Harry Melton and James Jones. They have engaged counsel for the hearing Monday afternoon. Messrs. Bellamy & Bellamy appear for the Consolidated Company in the prosecution.

The men or at least one of them does not deny that a clam shell was thrown into the car, but it is maintained that this was an accident. That the party were amusing themselves by practicing throwing at a telegraph pole on the right of way and did not see the approaching car; that the wind caught under one of the shells and sailed it into the car when there was no purpose on the part of any of the young men to do damage. The shell that struck Mr. Rountree inflicted no wound but, of course, was quite annoying and really dangerous. Among the witnesses for the prosecution are all passengers on the car in question including Mr. Rountree, Mr. P. M. Allbright, Professor H. Womersley, Mr. F. A. Fetter, Jr., and Mr. L. O. Reavis, of the Seaboard Air Line, Conductor Cunningham and others. The defendants also have quite a number of witnesses summoned to prove that no harm was meant by the men engaged in the pastime of practicing shell throwing at a telegraph pole on the right of way.

COMMITTEE RETURNED

Location of Eastern Training School Soon to be Decided.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 26.—On the return of the members of the State Board of Education from their tour of towns of eastern Carolina bidding for the location of the Eastern Carolina Teachers Training School, State Superintendent Joyner said, speaking for the members of the Board, that the trip was a delightful one in every respect; that the Board received every courtesy and attention that could have been desired, proverbial Eastern Carolina hospitality being more than sustained, and that it was the purpose of the Board to hold a meeting and definitely decide on the location of the school during the present week. In this connection Governor Glenn said later in the day that an effort was on to get the board together tomorrow for the vote on location to be made. To this end Lieutenant Governor Winston has been telegraphed to be here tomorrow provided Dr. Dixon, State Auditor, is able to return to Raleigh from Morehead where he was detained by sickness. Greenville is in the lead so far with cash donation of $100,000 and site. Members of the Board say they saw many admirable sites and are divided on the question so that several ballots will be required.

A CHURCH WEDDING

MARRIED LAST EVENING

Still another was added to the several beautiful church weddings that have been celebrated in Wilmington during the month of June in the happy marriage last night at nine o'clock in Fifth Street M. E. Church of Miss Frances A. Gardner, the attractive young daughter of Mrs. Carrie Gardner, and Mr. Wilbur Randall Dosher, a popular young Wilmingtonian and a son of Mrs. Mary M. Dosher, all of this city. The church was well filled with admiring friends and relatives of the young people to the marriage vow and the interior of the building presented a beautiful scene in its wealth of decorations in white and blue, five pretty arches of bamboo and smilax studded with electric lights spanning the alcoves back of the altar. Wax tapers in shining candelabra shed a soft glow over the marriage scene which was one of the prettiest of the many pretty weddings celebrated in the church.

The wedding marches were played by Mr. Alf H. Yopp and promptly at the appointed hour Lohengrin's bridal chorus announced the approach of the wedding party. First came the ushers, four in number, and then the little ribbon children, Miss Mamie Newton, niece of the groom, and Master Wilbur King, cousin of the bride, clad in spotless white, being immediately followed by the maid of honor, Miss Hattie Gardner, sister of the bride, and the bride on the arm of her brother, Mr. Harry Gardner. They were met at the altar by the groom who came with his best man, Mr. T. K. Curtis, from a side entrance. When the party had formed gracefully about the altar the couple kneeled and were made man and wife in a beautiful and impressive ceremony spoken by the Rev. Kenneth D. Holmes, pastor of the congregation, each plighting to the other their troth. Then came the gladsome strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march and the party retired in reverse order from that in which they came.

The groomsmen were from the intimate friends of the young people as follows: Messrs. W. A. McGirt, W. B. Muse, Charles C. Loughlin and J. J. Loughlin. They with the other male attendants wore the conventional black with boutonnieres of white carnations.

The bride was becomingly gowned in white crepe de chine over taffeta, trimmed with real Duchesse lace, the handiwork and bridal gift of her aunt, Mrs. Andrew Gardner. She carried bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's mother where an elegant reception was given in their honor. Many friends called to tender their felicitations to the happy young people and a large number of very handsome wedding presents bore silent testimony of the high esteem in which both Mr. and Mrs. Dosher are held in this city. Dainty refreshments were served at the reception and the decorations of the home were in keeping with all the other environment of the beautiful wedding.

The bride is a young woman much loved in a wide circle of friends and acquaintances in this city and the groom holds a responsible position in the shops of the Atlantic Coast Line in Wilmington. Among the wedding presents was a very handsome gift in gold from the groom's fellow employes in the shops. Mr. and Mrs. Dosher will leave this morning for an extended bridal tour to several resorts in the mountains of Western North Carolina after which they will be at home at No. 219 South Sixth street. Both have many friends who will welcome them back.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Miss Mary McCullen, of Washington, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Newton, of Southport; Mr. and Mrs. James H. Penny, of Florence, S. C.

Baby Boy Died in Richmond.

Many friends of the late father and the mother in this city will learn with sorrow the intelligence contained in the following obituary notice published in the Richmond News-Leader of a recent date: "Ryland L. Kimbrough, infant son of Mrs. Birdie Kimbrough and the late Rupert Kimbrough, died yesterday in the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Kimbrough, of 608 West Clay street. The father of the child died in Wilmington, N. C., a few months ago, having been employed in the office of the Wilmington Star some time. Claire Kimbrough was formerly employed in the office of the Richmond Dispatch. The funeral of the child will take place in Ashland tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. The burial of the body of the little boy will be by the side of the grave of his father."

AN OBJECT LESSON.

We are inclined to agree with the New Orleans States that "Republican Congressional Legislation to curb trusts is more or less a failure."

Now and then during the past few weeks a hostile and threatening note has been sounded in administration circles, but there seems to be little doubt that the so-called Harrimon case will be dropped by the Washington authorities for the good and sufficient reason that there are serious defects in the Sherman anti-trust law. This fact serves to strengthen the contention of John R. Dos Passos, the well known New York lawyer and publicist, that the Sherman act is a "dead failure" and the much lauded Northern Securities case "a roaring farce."

In his letter to the President Mr. Dos Passos says: "We have thus far accomplished nothing in actual results, absolutely nothing respecting these obnoxious corporations. We have hardly scotched the snake much less killed it." Of the Northern Securities case he asserts: "After months of legal clawing and pulling, during which time the public was mystified by dull, technical legal discussions and maneuverings, the corporation shares immensely increased in value and the original shares were returned to their owners at a handsame profit. If this be death, how many will seek it? Why was it not ground to pieces under the heavy judgment of the law? There was no effort to forfeit the property."

In commenting on the rate law, which has been in operation now for some months, the Hon. William J. Bryan declared the other day that aside from increasing the earnings of the railroads it had not accomplished any visible or tangible results. The people have looked in vain for the measure of reform which the rate law promised, but it is quite probable that in the end the discovery will be made that like the Sherman anti-trust act it is "a dead failure."

The States expresses this opinion under the circumstances:

"All things considered it seems that the inability of the national government to deal effectively with the trusts, combinations and conspiracies in restraint of trade, is likely to be demonstrated in a strikingly convincing manner, yet some of the distinguished authorities at Washington argue that the States should not do anything for their own protection, and keep hands off. But there is little reason to doubt that we are rapidly nearing that time when in order to safeguard their own rights and interests the people of the different States will be compelled to look to their legislatures and prosecuting officers to exercise their rightful authority, instead of depending on the national government for protection."

TO MANUFACTURE PAPER.

Mr. J. W. Scott, of the growing, bustling town of Canton, Haywood county, N. C., was in Asheville on Sunday, and told the correspondent of the Charlotte Observer that it is currently reported in Canton that the Champion Fibre Company, which has a million-dollar fibre plant there, is also preparing to erect a finishing plant. This means that the company will not only manufacture wood pulp, but will manufacture different grades of paper. In this way they will utilize the pulp their plant turns out, and it is presumed that they will manufacture news paper. North Carolina newspapers would be specially gratified if they could get their supply in North Carolina, but the probability is that the entire product would be taken in a lump by the people who control the paper market. However, it would be an industry that North Carolina would be glad to have.

It is stated by Mr. Scott that the fibre people are receiving at Canton from ten to twelve carloads of brick daily, and it is generally understood that this material is for the purpose of erecting the addition to the pulp mill plant for the manufacture of paper. If such is the case it will add more to the importance of Canton, and give employment to a great many more people. North Carolina newspapers may not get any advantage out of it, but the State will. However, if the fibre people would supply paper for printing, direct from their factory, the publishers of North Carolina might get the benefit of better freight rates and quicker shipments.

A big pulp mill is also being erected at Newbern and it is hoped that company will also, sooner or later, make paper.

TO BLOW UP DERELICTS.

Shipping men on both sides of the Atlantic, and especially those interested in vessels which have to run the risk of Hatteras, that ship graveyard on the North Carolina coast, have been much gratified by the announcement that the United States Treasury Department is asking for bids for the derelict destroyer which was authorized by the last Congress. This vessel which is to be stationed on the Atlantic coast, will embody the latest improvements in craft of her kind and will be capable of cruising for 5,000 miles without replenishing her bunkers. She will be furnished with powerful searchlights and a wireless telegraph equipment, the latter to enable her to receive and give information as to the location of derelicts. She will be provided with an ammunition-room stored with high explosives for sinking and blowing to pieces floating hulks and wreckage.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY.

Journalistic timeliness and well-considered variety characterize the July issue of the Atantic, though stress is laid particularly on government and politics. In "The Power that makes for Peace," by President H. S. Pritchett, of the Institute of Technology, we have a singularly vigorous and penetrating article, and in Samuel P. Orth's "Government by Impulse," an essay in which, among other things, American campaign tendencies are exposed. Isaac A. Hourwich deals impressively with the tremendous forces for good and for evil at strife in Russia. More local is "David Spencer's" account of the recent school reform in Boston, which has proved to be a permanent administrative success.

There are three literary essays of note. Edward Dowden's "Cowper and William Hayley" is a brilliant study of the poet's friend and biographer. Prof. Edwin Mims, of Trinity College, Durham, N. C., summarizes the life and writings of that versatile and charming Southern man of letters, Thomas Nelson Page. Of somewhat lighter character, C. M. Harvey's article on "The Dime Novel in American Life" justifies the existence of this downtrodden offshoot of fiction.

The Atlantic Monthly also is specially entertaining, with its usual number of splendid stories, serial articles, travel sketches, poetry and other features, the whole providing a rich feast for the reader. The magazine is sent a year for $4.00 and sells at 35 cents per copy. Address Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 4 Park Street, Boston.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—There is a preacher in North Carolina, deservedly popular, whose name is Seabreaze. Wouldn't you rather hear him preach than Rev. Mr. Hotstuff?—Raleigh News and Observer.

—Senator Foraker's bloody-shirt speech in Ohio advising the negroes to fight all "grandfather clauses" has borne fruit. Negroes in Georgia are getting ready to fight the proposed Hoke Smith suffrage amendment.—Raleigh News and Observer.

—When the people of the State come to an appreciation of the fact that a great gathering of the merchants or manufacturers is as important as a political convention, conditions will undergo a wonderful change for the better in North Carolina. There are indications that this time is in the near future.— Greensboro Industrial News (Rep.)

—The Southern Railway operates 1,309 miles of railroad in North Carolina. Their own returns, unfair as they are to the public, show that the Southern's net earnings on its North Carolina 1,039 miles was $908,000 last year, more than on any other 1,309 miles on their whole system of many miles of road. And yet they ask a Federal judge to set aside an act of our Legislature fixing fares at 2 1-4 cents.—Raleigh News and Observer.

A MANCHURIAN INN.

Chinese Food and Beds—High Walls to Protect Against Thieves.

The inn at Tieling, which was similar to the inns all over northern Manchuria, had a big compound surrounded by a high mud wall with gates. The long distance carts going down the country with beans and bringing back goods are driven inside these compounds for safety from robbers each night, says the South China Post, and during the great hauling season in winter these inns are crowded.

The walls of the inns are of mud plastered on a center wall made by weaving reeds together. The windows are mostly of oiled paper, with possibly one small pane of glass in the center. The rafters are rounded timbers on which are spread reeds, then a layer of coarse matting and then packed mud. In the cities the better inns have brick walls and tiled roofs, but are otherwise about the same.

It was necessary to sleep on the "k'ang" and eat Chinese food. In these inns the first place entered is the kitchen, a square space with mud floors and raised mud ovens with clay and iron pots. From this one passes through a cloth hung doorway into the inn proper. At Tieling this was twenty to sixty feet, down the middle of which was an eight foot aisle with packed mud floor.

On each side were ranged the "k'angs," raised mud embankments, brick faced, some thirty inches high and six feet wide. On these are spread mattings, and here all guests roll themselves in their own blankets and sleep side by side, with their feet to the wall and their heads to the center aisle. A fire underneath runs the length of each "range," and a fire at one end furnishes the hot air, which passes through and out at a mud chimney and warms the sleepers.

The meals are served on these "k'angs" on little tables about a foot high. At these inns a teapot is always kept warm over a fire in a raised mud embankment in the middle of the main aisle.

OLD SAYINGS.

It was Keats who said, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

Franklin is authority for "God helps those who help themselves."

"Man proposes, but God disposes," remarked Thomas a Kempis.

It was an observation of Thomas Southerne that "Pity's akin to love."

Edward Coke, the English jurist, was of the opinion that "A man's house is his castle."

"When Greeks joined Greeks, then was the tug of war," was written by Nathaniel Lee.

We are indebted to Colley Cibber, not to Shakespeare, for "Richard is himself again."

To Milton we owe "The paradise of fools," "A wilderness of sweets" and "Moping melancholy and moonstruck madness."

The poet Campbell found that "Coming events cast their shadows before" and "'Tis distance lends enchantment to the view."

Man and the Earth.

Nobody knows the age of man on earth. The tendency of opinion among scholars is to the effect that the human advent upon this planet took place many tens of thousands of years ago. John Fiske, backed by other high authorities, claims that man lived on the earth as long ago as half a million years.—New York American.

WHY IS SUGAR SWEET?

If sugar did not dissolve in the mouth you could not taste the sweet? A DISAPPOINTED SHAH.

Queer Story of a Prizefight In an English Royal Garden.

In his book of memories Major General Sir Owen Tudor Burns tells a story of the first visit of a shah to Great Britain:

The shah wanted to see a prizefight, with blood. After much anxious thought and consultation with Lord Queensberry an innocent glove fight was arranged in the Buckingham palace stables, to take place quietly half an hour before the shah was to receive Lord Shaftesbury and the archbishops and bishops with a memorial asking him to protect the interests of the Christians in Persia.

But the shah slept late. The prizefighters overlapped the prelates. A footman made a mistake in opening the door. Archbishops and bishops following the shah in a moment found themselves more or less in a ring round the two prizefighters. The bishops hustled back to the reception room, the fight was stopped, the shah was angry and disappointed, and Lord Shaftesbury was heard shouting: "A prizefight in the garden of the queen's palace forsooth! I will denounce you all over the kingdom!" Mutual explanations followed, the matter was set right, we sent special messages to the reporters to keep it out of the press, and I was later on privileged to explain it all to the queen, who took the matter much more calmly than her lord chamberlain. Once back, however, inside Buckingham palace, we all smoothed our ruffled feathers and listened to a most gloomy oration from Lord Shaftesbury.

The shah, angry at the interruption of his prizefight, turned round to Sir Henry Rawlinson and growled in Persian: "Hang the Christians in Persia! Tell them they're all right!" Rawlinson translated that into a long, eloquent and beautiful reply to the deputation, while doubtless the disappointed boxers were having a consolation scrap in the stables. Lord Shaftesbury did not denounce them, though the shah's bear leaders lived in terror for some days.

The lord chamberlain blamed me, I blamed the shah, the shah blamed the equerry, the equerry blamed the footman, the footman blamed every one all round, and we gave the prizefighters £5 apiece, with a resolution written in blood that never would any of us again arrange a prizefight, even for a shah of shahs, in a royal palace garden.

Trouble.

"Sometimes I think I have more troubles than any other man on earth."

"Nonsense! Look at Thompson. He's got a wife, an automobile and a sure system for beating the races."—Leslie's Weekly.

BEYOND THE GRAVE.

Victor Hugo's opinion on the question of life beyond the grave was a remarkable one. The great Frenchman was firmly convinced that he would meet all his friends in a future world. He was equally sure that he had always existed from the antediluvian times, when the Creator placed him on earth. He believed that he would exist forever, inasmuch as he felt in his soul thousands of hymns, dramas and poems that had never found expression.

When the atheists would say to him, "The proof that you will not exist in the future is that you did not exist in the past," Hugo would answer:

"Who told you I did not exist in the past centuries? You will say that is the legend of the ages. The poet has written, 'Life is a fairy tale twice written.' He might have said a thousand times written. You do not believe in the doctrine of surviving personalities for the reason that you do not recollect your anterior existence. But how can the recollection of vanished ages remain imprinted on your memory when you do not remember a thousand and one scenes and events of your present life? Since 1802 there have been ten Victor Hugos in me. Do you think that I can recall all their actions and all their thoughts?

"The tomb is dark, and when I shall have passed the tomb to emerge into light once more all these Victor Hugos will be almost wholly strangers to me. but it will always be the same soul."—Scrap Book.

He Could Walk.

All are not soldiers who wear a uniform, as General Lew Wallace found out at Fort Donelson. He saw four soldiers carrying a fifth, who seemed to be wounded.

"Can't that man walk without assistance?" asked Wallace.

"Oh, no!" said the men. "He is dying."

Just then a shell exploded near by, and the four men dropped their burden and fled. The man who was supposed to be wounded leaped to his feet and ran even faster than the others.

He Liked the Family.

"Dick proposed to me last night."

"What did you tell him?"

"I said he had better ask mamma. And what do you think the wretch said?"

"Goodness knows."

"He said he had asked her already, and she wouldn't have him."

A Settler.

Friend—Didn't your husband rave when you showed him the dressmaker's bill? Wife—Rather. Friend—And how did you quiet him? Wife—I showed him the milliner's next, and then he became absolutely speechless.

MARION SEASIDE HOME.

Work Progressing Satisfactorily—Additional Rules Prescribed.

It will be gratifying to the public to know that the work of the Marion Seaside Home is progressing most satisfactorily and that much good is being done in the treatment of little children, who would otherwise be denied the beneficial effect of the ocean air at this critical season in the existence of every little one. Mrs. Grace Hengeveld, the nurse in charge, is enthusiastic in the work and there are now upwards of a dozen little ones under her care.

The opening of the season has demonstrated the need for two additional rules for the government of the Home. These are announced by Chairman M. W. Jacobi, of the Board of Trustees, as follows:

"Any child admitted to the home shall be under the care of the physician in charge, and at the request of the parents or guardian any outside physician may be called into consultation.

"Hours for visitors shall be from 10 A. M. to 12 M., to 2 P. M. to 5 P. M. and 7:30 P. M. to 9 P. M."

REV. MR. DARST DECLINES.

Will Not Accept Call to St. John's Parish, of This City.

The Richmond News-Leader of Monday afternoon says that the Rev. Thomas S. Darst, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal parish of that city, wrote that date to the vestry of St. John's Church, of Wilmington, declining the recent call extended to him. As noted some time ago in these columns a committee from the vestry of St. John's visited Richmond and heard Rev. Mr. Darst, returning to this city and extending him a very urgent call. The Richmond rector took the call under advisement for a while, but has now declined. This will be very disappointing to the Wilmington parish, members of which were much impressed with the ability of Mr. Darst. He is general secretary of the local committee in Richmond in charge of the coming Episcopal General Convention in that city, and has built up his parish there to a high state of efficiency. The Virginia people simply would not consent to give him up.

Moore's Creek Celebration.

The Washington correspondent of yesterday's Raleigh News and Observer has the following of interest in this section: "A big celebration has been planned the latter part of August to commemorate the repairs and improvements of the Moore's Creek battle-grounds and monuments, for which Congress made an appropriation of $5,000. The work has already been completed. Representative Thomas, who was active in securing the appropriation, will endeavor to get several speakers of national reputation for the unveiling. Champ Clark, of Missouri, is among those who will be invited to speak."

Conductor G. E. Bell Injured.

Conductor G. E. Bell, of the Consolidated Company, suffered a painful fracture or sprain of the left arm by a fall on the platform of the suburban car station at Wrightsville Sound Tuesday morning in consequence of which he will be off duty for some days. He was alighing from his car with an armful of bundles at the station when his foot slipped from under him and he fell his entire weight on the arm. Dr. J. B. Cranmer is attending him. While he is able to be up, it will be some time before he can resume his duties again.

Eugene Nixon, a colored beggar, was given 30 days on the county farm instead of the roads in view of his physical disability. Eugene Pearson, colored, charged with drunkenness, was fined $5 and costs for the first offence.

—The average Wilmington citizen who has been complaining of the heat the past two or three days will find cause for reflection in a glance at the weather map. Of the stations in the Wilmington district reporting for the 24 hours ended yesterday morning at 8 o'clock this city was the coolest with a maximum temperature of 74 degrees. Charlotte reported 88, Florence 96, Goldsboro 97, Greensboro 92, Lumberton 96, Newbern 92, Raleigh 90 and Weldon 93.

—Mrs. E. M. Johnson, of Dunn, N. The wife was left sick at a boarding house near Second and Dock streets and the mother came to Wilmington for her night before last.

GEORGE RODERICK INSANE?

Said This Will be His Plea at Superior Court Trial Next Month.

George Roderick, the white man from the southern part of the city now serving a term on the county roads for several lesser offences in connection with his hold-up of a party of policemen some weeks ago near his home, will be brought in for trial at the term of Superior Court which will convene next month in this city. George is something of a character in the city and is regarded by many as very desperate especially when he is drinking. For this reason there is interest in the report which became current yesterday that when the case against him for holding up the policemen comes to trial in the Superior Court a plea of insanity will be offered in his behalf. It is known that inquiries have been made tending to support this plea, but with what success it would not be fair to state just at present. It is understood that Walter P. Gafford and perhaps other attorneys will appear for Roderick when the trial comes up.

DENOUNCES THE DESECRATION.

Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell Preaches a Strong Exposition Sermon.

The many friends in Wilmington of the Rev. Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell, former pastor of the First Baptist Church here, will read with interest the following dispatch from Norfolk, Va.:

Norfolk, June 24.—The Rev. Dr. Calvin S. Blackwell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, preached a special sermon last night denouncing Pine Beach, just outside of the Jamestown Exposition grounds, and the conditions as they exist there on Sunday.

Dr. Blackwell, to get ammunition for his sermon, went down to Pine Beach Sunday afternoon. He said in his sermon he never in thirty years saw such a desecration of the Sabbath and violation of the law.

MAN ARRESTED HERE.

Special Agent Scarborough, of Atlantic Coast Line Successful.

Upon the arrival of Train No. 42 of the Atlantic Coast Line yesterday morning, Special Agent H. Y. Scarborough, in the detective service of the company, arrested under the shed at the Front street station H. S. Jones, a young white man about 23 years of age, charged with being implicated in the larceny of two barrels of bottled whiskey from a car of the A. C. L. at South Rocky Mount last Sunday night. Mr. Scarborough says that Jones and another young man named J. M. Steele, employed as a machinist at Rocky Mount, were caught in the car by the railroad watchman in the act of stealing the barrels of liquor; that both were arrested, but Jones made his escape, shortly afterwards disappearing. Mr. Scarborough traced the young man to Wilmington, where he found him under the shed yesterday morning as stated. Jones said that he came down to Wilmington to draw the wages that were due him. He is one-armed and was easy of identification. He was locked up at the police station until yesterday evening, when he was taken by Mr. Scarborough back to Rocky Mount. Jones has been tramping over the country and was employed at Rocky Mount as a yard clerk. Both he and Steele will be given preliminary trial at Rocky Mount upon Mr. Scarborough' return with his prisoner.

COLORED BOY DROWNED

Fell Overboard From Flat Yesterday Afternoon at Market Dock.

A colored boy, 15 years of age, son of a well known blacksmith employed at the shops of Mr. J. E. G. Brown in this city, fell from the ferry flat in Market street dock yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock and was drowned before help could reach him. The lad was employed as errand boy at the store of Mr. William Goodman, an lower Market street, and had been sent to the dock with a bucket to dip up water and wash some spittoon. The ferry flat was lying in the dock and the boy went out to the end of it and had stooped down to bring up a pail of water when he lost his footing and plunged headforemost into the river. He was seen by persons about the dock to rise twice but before an effort could be made to save him, he was drowned. His body has not been recovered though his father and friends took a canoe and dragged for some time in the vicinity of the drowning yesterday afternoon and last night. The river was very rough yesterday afternoon and the flat rose at one end as the boy stooped. This probably accounts for his having lost his footing.

Graded School for Rowland.

Messrs. McMillen & Cooper, architects of this city, have just completed plans for a very handsome two-story brick graded school building for the town of Rowland, N. C. It will cost $10,000, and work will begin at once, so that the building will be ready for occupancy by the Fall term. Rowland is one of the most progressive towns in Robeson county, and is not one whit behind in the matter of education and civic improvement of every kind. Mr. W. F. Bristow, cashier of the Bank of Rowland, with the other trustees, have charge of the school building.

Justice Bornemann's Court.

"Dandy" Johnson, colored, swore out a warrant yesterday before Justice Bornemann, charging Joe Nois, a hack driver, with beating him at the Atlantic Coast Line depot Tuesday. The case was to be tried yesterday evening at 7 o'clock, but Mr. William Sheehan, by whom Nois is employed, came before the court and submitted, saying that "Dandy" ran into and locked wheels with his hackman, and when Nois told him to back out and he refused, he slapped him. The case was dismissed.

The Baltimore Steamer.

Mr. Percy V. Oswald, lately in the claim department of the Clyde Line at Charleston, has been appointed local agent of the Baltimore and Carolina Steamship Company, in that city. The company is now operating one steamer a week between Baltimore, Wilmington, Georgetown and Charleston but it is learned that an effort is being made now to double the service. Mr. Oswald succeeds Mr. J. L. Doten in the Charleston agency of the line.

A WEIRD RACING TALE

How a Horse That Couldn't Run Came In a Winner.

PULLED OFF AT GUTTENBERG.

The Story of the Way That Jockey Hugh Penny Repaid an Impecunious Owner Who Had In Days Gone by Helped Him on In His Career.

St. Louis, long a center for merry-go-round tracks, having at various times fostered the East Side, Madison, Sportsman's park and South Side tracks, has had many a weird racing tale unloaded upon it. Stories of horses at the night track being run in on the last lap under cover of semidarkness and the like have been common.

Here's one, however, that comes from the days of the old Guttenberg course, which seems able to hold its head up in almost any disreputable turf company:

When prosperity commenced shining on the Gut a little rat faced jockey began to attract the attention of men who wanted to get their horses home in front. He was quick at the post, had fair judgment, did not know what fear was and was willing to take all sorts of advantages, whether fair or not. This was Hugh Penny.

Penny had another virtue that is rare in jockeys in these days. He was grateful. When he was making a reputation a certain owner went out of his way to give him a mount.

This was the making of the jockey. The experience he got on this man's horses taught him a whole lot, and finally his services were in such demand he was able to pick his own mounts. Money was flowing into his pockets. He wore diamonds, drove fast trotters and was one of the few visitors to the hill able to afford fur overcoats.

In the meantime the man who had given him his start had fallen into a ruck and could not win a race. He owed every one who would trust him, the feed box was empty, and his stable consisted of one plug that could run a bit in the mud, but on a fast track couldn't beat a ten-year-old maiden.

This was the state of affairs when one night after the races he approached Penny and asked him to ride his horse in a six furlong race the next day. "What's the use, Bill?" asked the diminutive jockey. "He can't run fast enough to keep himself warm."

"You're right, Jock, but I've just got to take a chance. I'm down and out, and it is possible the old horse will be lucky enough to squeeze into third money."

The next day came. There was a fog surrounding the course that you could cut with a knife. In fact, it was so bad a bugler went to the post with the horses and with a loud blast announced when the flag fell. There was not a foot of the track that could be seen from the grand stand, and the judges had to leave the stand and go out on the track to tell which horse had won.

As Penny was mounting his horse in the paddock he was greatly excited.

"How much have you bet?" he asked the owner.

"Not a cent, son," was the reply. "I haven't got a cent to bet with, and, besides, the old horse can't win."

"Yes, he can," said Penny. "He'll win by a block. Here's a hundred. Hurry up and get it down."

The hundred was bet, and the horses went to the post. In a few moments there was a loud blast of a bugle, and the race was on. It was a half mile track, you understand, and the start was about where the mile and a quarter would be on a full mile track.

In a few seconds the splash of horses' feet could be heard from the grand stand and a few shadowy forms seen passing along the stretch. Then everything was silent until again came the faint patter of horses' feet. These grew louder and louder until finally they were right in front of the stand. Then it was seen that one horse was ten to fifteen lengths in front of the field. In a few moments it was announced that Penny's mount was the one that was so far in front, and the race was given to him.

Penny dismounted and made his way back to the paddock. He did not have a speck of mud on his clothes.

"The old horse was a runner today, wasn't he, jock?"

"Runner nothing," answered Penny. "Why, he couldn't run fast enough to beat me."

"How in blazes did he manage to beat that field, then?" was the query.

"He didn't," replied Penny. "I stood still when the flag fell, and when I heard the field coming after making the circuit of the track I drew the whip on the old dog, and even then it was all he could do to get home in front."

And that was one way of winning races at the hilltop track.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Antiquity of Slavery.

Slavery is pretty nearly as old as the race. It began so far back that the memory of man, assisted by the still greater memory of history, can recall no time when it did not exist. It would be difficult to say who were the first slaves. In all the nations around the Mediterranean, where civilization is supposed to have started, the institution began early to flourish and held on right down through feudalism to modern times.

Meet the pessimist with a smile. It is his worst medicine; but, bitter as it is, it usually does him good.—Oklahoma State Capital.

BATTLE OF SAN JACINTO.

The Desperate Fight That Heralded the Dawn of Texan Freedom.

On the morning of the 21st of April, 1836, the day chosen for the battle which was to decide the fate of Texas, Houston's first words had been, "The sun of Austerlitz has risen again." He had then called a council of war and asked the opinion of his six field officers as to whether they should attack the enemy or wait for the attack to come from them.

The four senior officers strangely counseled delay, but their arguments did not convince Houston, who declared that the hour for action had arrived and plainly announced the intention on his own responsibility to risk a general engagement. He then dispatched Deaf Smith, his most trusty scout, to cut down the bridge which offered the only means of escape to either army.

"Make the best of your way," he had said in his habitual tone of kindly friendship, "to Vince's bridge, cut it down and burn it up and come back like eagles or you will be too late for the day." And just as the first charge was starting a horseman flecked with foam from his panting charger had dashed along the lines of the patriot army, as Houston had arranged that he should do, calling out clearly that all might hear, this deathknell to all hopes of possible escape: "I have cut down Vince's bridge! Now, fight for your lives and remember the Alamo!"

The Texan army, with Houston riding at the front of the center column, had then dashed forward against the Mexican breastworks, behind which stood the army of Santa Anna, drawn up in perfect order and calmly reserving its fire for short range. Their first volley, however, by the grace of a divine Providence, as the Texans declared, went too high. Houston's leg was shattered at the ankle and his horse severely wounded, but his columns still advanced uninjured.

Then came the answering volley, "poured into the very bosoms" of the astonished Mexicans—unable to reload and without bayonets for the charge. The Texans had "clubbed their muskets" and dealt desperate blows, and finally, when they had thus battered their way into the very center of the Mexican army, they had drawn their murderous bowie knives and "literally cut their way through dense masses of living flesh."

The battle had lasted only twenty minutes, but in that time a new nation had been born into the world. "From the battle of San Jacinto," said Webster in 1842, "the war was at an end."—Metropolitan Magazine.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Too many of us consider an excuse a reason.

Everything sounds like an encore to some men.

Many a man who thinks he is getting into a peach orchard really finds his way into a lemon grove.

There are lots of answers to the question, "What's the use?" but the man who asks it never wants one.

When an acquaintance says to you, "I am going to be honest with you," brace yourself to hear something disagreeable.

Most of us when we ride a free horse start out on a walk, quicken into a brisk trot, then break into a wild gallop and are thrown.—Atchison Globe.

Good For Twenty.

"Lawyers get stung as easily as other people," said one who practices in the criminal courts. "Here's what happened to me the other day: A friend of mine tipped me off that there was a case coming up in special sessions and it would be easy to get the defendant, a negro, free.

"'There's a twenty in it for you,' he added. 'I've got another case on upstairs or I would take it myself.'

"Sure enough, I got the fellow off, and when we reached the corridor I politely intimated that I had heard there was a twenty awaiting me for my trouble.

"'Sure thing, boss,' said the negro, diving into his pockets. 'It certainly am worth twenty, all right.' Without a smile he handed over two dimes."—New York Sun.

Just as Good.

Dasherly—How on earth did she discover her mistake?

—A revival at Selma has added 58 new members to the Baptist Church.

—Engineer J. H. Griffith has entered suit for $20,000 against the Seaboard Air Line for injuries he received in an accident on the Seaboard March 21, 1907. The suit will be tried at Raleigh.

—Raleigh News and Observer: Wake county peach growers have been bringing their products to the Raleigh market now for a week or ten days. The peaches are fine and bring a good price. One man sold two small one-horse loads here last Saturday for more than $60.

—Spray, June 25: Yesterday morning while out swimming in Smith river, near Spray Woolen mill, J. K. Lawrence, while attempting to cross the river the second time, was drowned. He appeared no more after sinking the first time, and the body was not found until late in the afternoon. Mr. Lawrence leaves a widow and several children.

—Wilson, June 25: Yesterday at Contentnea Creek, while Mr. Bill Stancill was in bathing two villainous looking hoboes took every stitch of his clothing from the creek bank and left the unfortunate bather to get back to Wilson as best he could. He borrowed a pair of overalls from the pumping station man and phoned the police of his predicament. It wasn't long before the blue coats caught the men with their plunder.

—Hendersonville, N. C., June 25: A notable gathering during the coming month will be the meeting of the North Carolina Bar Association, which will be in session July 10-12. A large number of leading lawyers from every section of the State always attend these meetings. The leading feature of the coming meeting is to be an address by Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, late Democratic candidate for president.

—Asheville, N. C., June 25: A genuine surprise was sprung here this afternoon when H. B. Fisher, a young lawyer of Asheville, and former school teacher, also late candidate for nomination for register of deeds of this county, was landed in jail charged with relieving S. W. Radford of a five hundred dollar check, two bank books and $32 in cash. Fisher admits taking the check, but says that he was only playing a joke. It seems that Fisher and Radford and two others were together in an office this afternoon, when Fisher left and shortly Radford missed his pocketbook, containing the money and the check that had been endorsed. Suspicion rested on Fisher, and when he was located it was proposed that all be searched. Fisher hesitated, but all the men with a police officer, started for the city hall. It is alleged that when the city hall was reached Fisher went into the water closet of the superintendent's office and threw down the check. It was later found, but not the money. Search was made for the money and it was found in the street outside the city hall all wadded together. It is alleged that Fisher threw the money down while en route to the hall. He said that he took the pocketbook for a joke. Fisher and Radford were very close friends.

—Raleigh News and Observer, June 26: A pretty romance of special interest to citizens of Raleigh and Hamlet was consummated in Cheraw, S. C., Sunday night, when Miss Mattie F. McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McDonald, became the bride of Mr. J. Idie Hardie, son of Mrs. M. A. Hardie, of this city. Mr. Hardie, until about six months ago, lived with his mother in Raleigh. Then he accepted a position as machinist for the Seaboard Air Line at Hamlet and soon after going there met Miss McDonald. For some time past, it is said, friends had expected them to marry, but there was objection on the part of the young lady's parents because of her youth, she being only seventeen years of age. They decided to marry last Sunday, and while the bride-to-be was on her way to Sunday School, her lover and friends of his had everything in readiness to drive across the State line into South Carolina. Instead of spending an hour in Sunday School, she was beside her lover and behind a pair of horses speeding across the country. They had intended to be married in a church near the line in South Carolina, but the minister was out of place, and so they kept up the drive to Cheraw, a distance of 18 miles from Hamlet. They arrived about 9:30 o'clock at night and were quietly married by Rev. A. H. McArn, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The party then returned to Hamlet. The bride and groom are now at the home of Mr. Hardie's mother, on Fayetteville street, in this city.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER

Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?

If you did what would you say of him?

It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.

Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 26.—The cotton market was nervous and unsettled during today's session with the close steady at a net decline of 4 to 12 points. Sales were estimated at 300,000 bales.

The opening was barely steady at an advance of 4 points to a decline of 7 points, the gains being on the near months which were influenced by higher cables than expected and covering, while later positions were lower owing to good weather, bearish reports as to crop condition in Carolinas and the weekly summary of a Southern authority claiming that the crop had made a decided improvement during the past week. There was some irregularity immediately after the call but the market gradually weakened and in the early afternoon had quite a sharp break on rumors there had been a private settlement in July. It was noted, however, that near months continued to maintain a premium over later positions and after selling ok a a net decline of about 14 to 17 points market rallied over 6 points toward the close on covering. Southern spot markets were generally unchanged.

Receipts at the ports today were 3,680 bales against 7,030 last week and 6,649 last year. For the week 25,000 bales against 25,948 last week and 30,798 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 1.346 bales against 3,587 last year and at Houston 627 bales against 689 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet, 20 points decline. Middling uplands 12.90; middling gulf 13.15; sales none. Futures opened barely steady and closed steady.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 26.—Dry goods jobbers clearance sales have been very satisfactory, particularly in the direction of staple domestics, prints, silks, piece goods, linens and the lower priced white goods. Dress goods are slow. Underwear and hosiery are pretty well sold for the Spring season. There is considerable hesitation in the fine cotton goods trade, due to the unwillingness of cotton factors to sell staple cotton for future delivery until the crop conditions and prospects are better understood. Cotton goods held very firm.

EASILY DECIDED.

This Question Should be Answered Easily by Wilmington People.

Which is wiser—to have confidence in the opinions of your fellow-citizens, of people you know, or depend on statements made by utter strangers residing in far-away places? Read the following:

H Cronenberg, photographer, of 119 1-2 Market street, Wilmington, N. C. says: "I used Doan's Ointment and it did its work promptly and permanently. I had a rash all over me, and no one knows how I suffered. It was like being in the infernal region and I could get no relief. I did not dare scratch because that made it worse. I tried everything but only to be disappointed. Some one told me about Doan's Ointment and I procured a box at R. R. Bellamy's drug store. I went home and applied some of the ointment, and I can say that it brought the first relief I had had for a long time. I can only add that it is a preparation of great merit."

AT ALL SODA FOUNTAINS
INSIST!!!
When you step up to a fountain or into a place where bottled drinks are sold tell the man you want Coca-Cola. Close your ears to the "just as good" argument because there is nothing just as good as Coca-Cola. INSIST. You have asked for Coca-Cola because you are convinced that is what you want—don't let a smooth-tongued salesman rule your judgement. If the man insists go to a place where they give their customers what they ask for. Imitations are made to deceive you, not to please you.
Coca-Cola
TRADE MARK REGISTERED
THE REASON—Coca-Cola not only quenches thirst and pleases the palate but it relieves fatigue, and is the only beverage that has vim and go to it.

DISASTROUS FIRE NEAR EXPOSITION

Several Hotels and Restaurants Stores and Places of Amusement Burned.

FIVE PERISHED IN FLAMES

Loss From $200,000 to $250,000, With Very Little Insurance—Hard Fight to Keep the Fire Out of Exposition.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Norfolk, a., June 26.—Six blocks of smouldering ruins mark the track of fire-swept Pine Beach early this morning, laying low fifty hotels, saloons, eating houses, and stores, destroying $200,000 worth of property, costing the lives of at least five people and endangering the negro building, Inside Inn, and several State building within the Exposition Grounds. The explosion of a gasoline stove in the rear of the Berkeley Hotel is conceded to have been the origin.

The loss of life is believed to be as follows:

Larry Harrison, colored, found fatally burned under the Hotel Berkley; unknown man, believed to have perished in the National Club, Maryland avenue; two women and a baby, missing and believed to have been caught when the walls of the Hampton Roads Hotel fell in.

A sensational report that three Greek novelty venders, insane over the loss of their property committed suicide, is given color by their disappearance from the scene. It is declared that they cut their throats and rushed into the burning building.

Norfolk, Va., June 26.—Fire early today at Pine Beach, a resort filled with hotels of varying size, restaurants, stores and places of amusement, just outside the Jamestown Exposition Grounds, destroyed frame structures covering a large area in the territory between Virginia and Maryland avenues, 22nd and 33d streets, and Exposition avenue. An unknown negro was burned to death in a shack. The burned district is immediately on the outside of the western fence of the Exposition Grounds, extending to a point near the Pine Beach Hotel and north to Hampton Roads, from the trolley track, which runs from the Exposition fence at Maryland avenue to the original Pine Beach pier at the mouth of the Elizabeth river. The cause of the fire, which started in the Berkley Hotel, is as yet unknown. The loss is placed at between $200,000 and $250,000 with about 20 per cent. insurance, the high rates having been almost prohibitive for the taking of large risks on the frame structures.

The Inside Inn and the Kentucky State buildings on the western side of the Exposition Grounds, as well as the negro building and auxiliaries thereto, were threatened for a time, owing to the wind, but the fire reached nothing inside the grounds.

The Arcade, Royal Pine, Hampton Roads, Washington House, Outside Inn, Powhatan, Carolina and Berkley Hotels were among the largest buildings destroyed. The States Hotel was not reached and the Pine Beach Hotel was not in immediate danger. The Powhatan Guards and the Exposition fire department did splendid work in preventing the fire from spreading beyond the boundary in which it was finally confined and burned itself out.

About the only buildings saved within the affected area are the Tourists Hotel, the Greystone Inn and California Frank's Buffet, all on Second street. Between forty and fifty buildings were destroyed and probably 10,000 people are homeless. The burned buildings were of temporary construction, the Hotel Arcade Hotel being the largest and costliest, representing an investment, including furniture and equipment of $80,000.

C. Abler, of Chicago, rescued an unknown woman from the Arcade Hotel while the latter was burning and who might have perished but for the bravery of the Chicagoan.

REDUCED PASSENGER RATES

Railroads Argue That Legislative Acts are Unconstitutional.

Asheville, N. C., June 26.—The suits brought by the leading railroad companies of the South to enjoin the States, of North Carolina and Virginia from enforcing the reduced passenger and freight rates fixed by the Legislatures of those States, came up for hearing before Judge Pritichard in the United States Circuit Court here today. Counsel for both sides presented their views.

The railroads contended that the reduced rates are so low that they will either financially ruin the roads or prevent dividends, and thus failing to pay a reasonable compensation for money invested, they will be deprived of their property without due process of law, in violation of the Federal constitution.

Counsel for the States contend that the reduction of passengers rates would still leave the railway companies a fair profit, even though there should be decrease in revenues. Walter D. Hines, of New York, general counsel for the Santa Fe, was conducting the argument for the Southern Railway when the court adjourned until tomorrow.

MISS LOVING'S STORY NOT TRUE

DEFENSE BLOCKED ATTEMPT

Court Will Pass On Question of Admitting Evidence to Disprove Miss Loving's Testimony—Paving Way for Insanity Plea.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Houston, Va., June 26.—Interest in the trial of Judge Loving for the murder of young Theodore Estes, lagged somewhat today. The features were the closing of the defense after the examination of the three witnesses for purpose for providing that Judge Loving was insane at the time of the killing of young Estes, and the statement by the attorneys for the prosecution of what they intend to prove if certain witnesses are allowed to testify. The plea of the defense is that the mind of Judge Loving had after years of dissipation, which frequently caused to him to have delirum tremens from excessive drinking, became so impaired that when he heard the story of his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Loving, that she had been drugged and assaulted, he became deranged and was not responsible for his act in killing Estes. Counsel for the defense hope, through the plea of emotional insanity to frustrate any attempt to impeach the statement of Miss Loving. The defense rested their case this afternoon and the prosecution announced as their first witness in rebuttal, Miss Annie Kidd, who they said would disprove the story of Miss Loving. This was objected to and the jury retired after which a lengthy legal discussion was gone into. The attorney's for the defense argued that the prosecutioin had no right to enter into the truth or the falsity of the story told by Miss Loving to her father and cited the New York case in which District Attorney Jerome was not allowed to impeach the testimony of Evelyn Thaw.

Attorney Daniel Harmon, for the prosecution, in reply, gave the first public presentation of the side of the case from the Estes viewpoint. In an impressive address he declared that Judge Loving had acted in haste in shooting young Estes, as he could have gotten all the facts and information about the buggy riding without going out of his way. Continuing he said: "Is human life so cheap that you or I may be shot down on the mere statement of one individual? Judge Loving could have gone to the home of Mrs. Kidd, only a block away, and where his daughter spent the night and have found out the facts, as the relations of the two families were very intimate. The physician who made the examination lived a block away from the scene of the shooting, but he never consulted him. And who knows, but that he did close his eyes to the real facts. The very spot where the crime is alleged to have been committed was in plain sight of Lovingston. The remaining contents of the flask of whiskey alleged to have beebn drugged was givean a man at Lovingston and it worked no ill effects on him. The buggy ride and what occurred on that ride was the source of all of the truoble. Is all the light on the case to be turned on the otherside? The law is for the protection of the citizen. A citizen of this Commonwealth has been shot down. What had been done? Should not the jury be acquainted with these facts?"

Mr. Moore, who responded, quoted numerous cases where such evidence has been excluded and said that the defendant was entitled to the same right that has been accorded in many other courts.

Judge Barksdale will rule on this point tomorrow. It is deemed most important by the counsel in the case, as the prosecution claims to have witnesses to disprove every statement made by Miss Loving, who told the story of her ruin between sobs on the stand yesterday.

EIGHT KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Fifty Pounds of Dynamite Prenaturely Set Off on Tide-Water Railroad.

MEN WERE BLOWN TO ATOMS

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Houston, Va., June 26.—As the result of the premature explosion of a box of dynamite near Tola, Charlotte county, yesterday afternoon, eight persons were killed outright and six others seriously injured. The two Americans killed were Edward Clark, of Charlotte county, fireman of a dinkey engine, and Cornelius Sullivan, of Lamont, Illinois, foreman for the McDermott Construction Company, of Chicago, which has the contract for the construction of a part of the Tidewater Railroad. The six others killed are all Italians who are known by numbers rather than names. The accident happened in a deep cut where a force of about fifteen men were engaged. A box containing about fifty pounds of dynamite exploded and all in the immediate vicinity were killed. The victims were blown to atoms and fragments of the bodies were scattered in all directions. For some distance around the scene heads, arms and legs were picked up. One Italian was blown so far up into the embankment that the body had to be dug out with picks. A dinkey engine standing in the yards was blown to pieces. The explosion was heard for miles around and nearby houses were demolished by the terriffic shock.

The cause of the explosion is unknown, as the victims were the only persons in the vicinity.

George Mason, an engineer, was fatally injured.
